Hello. I first of all want to apologize for wasting your time as I did. For a brief moment, Vanessa had me deceived into thinking she was coming back to me. And I just couldn't speak against her to you. I should have known better, and should not have "dodged" you and wasted your time. But now, I am going to put in writing the details I know. I've never spoken to Scott Allen in my life. And as I've been told, he was abusive to Vanessa. BUT, she said she loved it. Because from the time she was four until twelve or thirteen, her father raped her, molested her, and abused her. She told me how most mornings she would have to "run out of the classroom and puke up his sperm." And her mother stood by and done nothing. But that is why she loved Scott so much. Because he did abuse her. That's the only way she can be happy. So, she cannot come off with that bullshit that she "loved Scott" or he "held her captive". She could have left at anytime. The truth is, she was a junkie at the time. Strung out bad on cocaine. And Scott loved the wild sex she gave him. She is good! She told me that "she wanted the big bag of cocaine that Chris Gainey always displayed, and she wanted the big roll of cash." She told me that it was her idea to jump Chris and take it. It was ALL premeditated on both their parts. And at the time, she was practicing witchcraft. I mean my God, her body is covered in Satanic tattoos. She named her own son after Satan! She told me that Scott didn't want to hunt Chris. That Chris was "the only one helping them." Why hit the hand that feeds you? And Chris was literally feeding them. Everything they needed he got them. But Vanessa was greedy. She wanted it all. She told Scott if he ever wanted her pussy, her sex, then he would get her that money and that cocaine. She said to the detectives, "he controlled her." "He held her captive." Well, she is the one. She is the greatest manipulator EVER! I mean, she got Scotty, the black jailer fired from the jail for manipulating him out of dope and smokes! She had sex with him and he don't deny it. She has an "unseen power" and the devil is real and she knows how to use him. She uses her body to control men. And women. She has lied with two different women. She is bi-sexual. The last one claimed to be a witch named "Dina". And Vanessa claims, or use to claim to be a witch herself. She may he changed at this time, she is clean from dope and doing good. But it's still in her. She is still a heartless, denious, cold-blooded bitch! But, anyway, she told me that she used witchcraft on Scott and went on and on at him "until he agreed to plan out a meeting with Chris to make an exchange for some guns they stole for cocaine." But they both planned it out for days. She still sits and laughs about how easy she manipulated Scott, and probably myself when I'm not around. She told me how she used sexual favors on him to finally break him down to agree to do it. That crap about he made her do things is a joke! She does it her way and nobody can control her! When I got her out of jail, the first thing she did was call his husband. And every single day after, it drove me out of my mind. It drove me to drink and eventually use crack again. I know, I had my own choice. But I had sympathy for her. She had no place to go except back to jail. So I put up with her shit. And she always used sex to make it up. One time, I stayed gone all week and I done some crimes. I made the mistake of telling her I did. The next time, she was so mad she screamed, "I know how to get rid of you!" "I'll tell on you and get you out of my life just like I did Scott!" "I know you will get the habitual felon!" And she did just that. But God was on my side. He knew the situation. The hell I was living in, and her devious ways. Why I was driven to an "escape world". Her plan was for me to never be able to come around her again. She said "it worked on Scott and I'll get you too." Vanessa is NOT as bad as she was when Chris Gaimery was killed. But the fact is, she was had them and she was as much or not more a part of his death as Scott was. She should at least be guilty of accessory. She planned it all. Not Scott. Scott may never walk free again. But she should not get off free. At least that would give Scott some comfort. I may not be a credible witness on what she has told me. I may be a recovering crack addict, but I'm NOT evil. She is. The "devil star" on the back of her neck. The devil tattoos all over her body. The enclosed definition of her son's middle name. Her record of breaking into churches, at the time of Chris's death, maybe not so much now, she was as evil as they get. And the time of his death is what matters in this case. Right? If it was all Scott, then why is she the one who was driving Chris truck? Why is she the one who sold it to Costa Paige? Why is she the one who spent the credit cards? Was filmed at the ATM? Seems to me,  $2 + 2 = 4$  anyway you place it. She was the master-mind in this crime. And Scott was the fall guy from the start. That's her way. Use a man up, then throw him to the lions when she gets hot for somebody else. She manipulated me when I was down and out in that jail. She used me because I told her I would not stop at anything till I got her out. She used, once again, her sexuality to suck me in. Once she got out, EVERYTHING changed. She put a spell on me and I'm still got to pay for the damage she caused my life for years to come. I can't imagine how Scott must feel. But she should have to pay too. And for the record, I wrote her mother a letter tonight. Her mother is where Vanessa got her way from. She has really treated me bad and judged me undeservingly. So, I wrote her a letter telling her she should not judge me after she let her husband rape a four year old adopted child. And let it go on for years after. I did threaten it to Vanessa one time. And she told me if I did write it that "she would kill me." So, if anything was to happen to me, it was her. She said she "would have her brother Jay, her redneck cousins, or a guy here, her "friend" she cheated on me the whole time with, named Mike Verlocke, to kill me." I just wanted somebody to know she said that. Just in case. So you see? Even to this day, she still has that way of thinking. I went by Wendy's this morning. I had a head pain because of a hernia. I'm having surgery Thursday. She told me she could care less. She don't give a damn. I said, "you don't mind hurting my feelings?" She said she don't give a damn about my feelings. So, that's why I wrote you tonight. And I will tell all this to a jury. I may need a ride to do it, but I will if you get me there. She planned that murder. It's time she gets a taste of her own treatment of people. "States witness." Well, she probably pulled the trigger herself. She's nothing but an evil devil worshipper who named her own son after Satan. And as I said, I'm never spoken to Scott. But I'll bet he will agree with what I'm wrote here. He couldn't "control her" if he tried! She has washed him for drugs. Contact me back. I will Troy Spence talks to you this time.
